

SECOND DAY

The number and fame of the shrines dedicated to St Anne proclaim eloquently how good she is. Mayobridge, among others, is especially the spot where she pours out her bounties. Not one pilgrim raises from his/her knees at the foot of her miraculous statue without feeling consoled, fortified and enlightened, without feeling a new joy. We also know that, wherever she is invoked, her generosity can be counted on. St Anne is constantly occupied in thinking of us, to loving us, and in preparing to succour us whenever our prayers rise towards her. And how can she not love us, since she loves so deeply God and the Blessed Virgin Mary, whose children we are, since she loves so much her Divine Grandson, whose brothers and sisters we are, and who himself went so far as to give his life and shed his blood for our salvation and happiness. Let us confide to St Anne our troubles, our sorrows and worries, confident that she will do for all we love more than we could possibly hope for.

GOOD ST ANNE, PRAY FOR US.
